

Department of Political Science
University of Hyderabad

“U.S. Election 2024: Biden vs. Trump 2.0”

Prof. John Portz
Professor of Political Science
Northeastern University
Boston, MA, USA

Date and Time

Friday
19 April 2024, 2 PM

Venue

Seminar Hall
Department of Political Science

About the Lecture

This year's rematch of Joe Biden and Donald Trump offers one of the most consequential elections in recent American history. In this presentation we look at the candidates, the election process, key strategies for each campaign, and major issues that are likely to shape the election. The 2020 election provides some guidance, but new issues are grabbing attention as well, from public concerns over the candidates' ages to Trump's legal battles. What does this election mean for the health of American democracy?

Chair

Dr. S. Shaji
Department of Political Science, UoH

Discussant

Dr. Sneha Banerjee
Department of Political Science, UoH

About the Speaker

John Portz is a professor in political science at Northeastern University in Boston, MA, USA. His research and teaching interests focus on American politics and include education policy, federalism, and institutional leadership. His recent publication is Educational Accountability and American Federalism: Moving Beyond a Test-Based Approach (Routledge, 2023). He is currently a Fulbright-Nehru Distinguished Scholar affiliated with the Centre for Canadian, U.S. and Latin American Studies at Jawaharlal Nehru University in New Delhi. In addition to his academic work, in the past he served as an elected member of his home community's school board and city council.